

LIBRARY ORIENTATION INTRODUCTION

Policy: All students enrolled at St. Vincent's College receive bibliographic instruction as part of their college orientation.

Purpose: To familiarize students with learning resources including the library resources necessary for searching, retrieval, and citation of information in all formats.

Procedure: The college librarian schedules and conducts the library orientation sessions. The orientation class includes:

1. Mission of the learning resources
2. Library policies/services
3. Introduction to the research process
4. Connecticut Digital Library (iCONN)

I. MISSION

The Mission of the learning resources at St. Vincent's College is derived from the Mission of the College and the Mission of the Academic Services Division. It provides resources and services necessary to serve the informational, learning and developmental needs of students, faculty, administrators and the broader college community. These resources include diversified library and academic support services. They provide qualified staff members who are dedicated to creating an environment that supports effective teaching, intellectual growth, lifelong learning and the Mission of the College.

The College uses three local libraries, through institutional contracts, to support this mission. The Daniel T. Banks Health Sciences Library is the primary library of the College, while Sacred Heart University's Ryan-Matura Library supports general education courses. The College uses all facilities to assure that maximum library resources are available to students, faculty, and staff.

II. LIBRARY POLICIES/SERVICES

St. Vincent's College offers the following services:

A. Reference

The College Librarian and library staff provide on-site reference and information services to assist in obtaining accurate and timely answers to information requests. Print and electronic services may be utilized by students, staff and faculty as needed.

B. Serials

The serials collection consists of magazines/journals and newspapers, in addition to full-text electronic versions of other scholarly journals and professional magazines. Click here to see a printed list of these Daniel T. Banks Health Science Library Journal Holdings

Or you can find a list in the Daniel T. Banks Health Science Library. This list shows current subscriptions, titles, years held, and location. A list of electronic titles accessible via the OVID database subscription is also available within this Orientation Guide. Serials are selected in order to support the continuing education needs of the college curriculum.

The serials collection is housed at the Daniel T. Banks Library, on the current shelves, back issue shelves, and in the closed stacks areas.

C. Electronic Resources

The Daniel T. Banks Health Science Library provides on-site access to computer-based literature in the following ways:

1. Ovid Databases

The library subscribes to OVID Technologies, Inc. databases. Ovid databases provide access to The Cumulative Index to Nursing and Allied Health Literature (CINAHL), Medline, and Books@OVID as well as to over 260 full-text periodical titles in nursing, medicine and allied health, and more than 40 full-text clinical textbooks. Ovid's databases are available from any terminal in the library, college, or medical center, or remotely with password access, available from the library staff or the Quick Reference Card issued with your library card.

2. iConn Databases

iConn, The Connecticut State Digital Library, is a broad-based collection of resources including reference, news, history, science, and health resources. In addition to CINAHL, iConn users can access PsychInfo - covering the field of Psychology and psychological aspects of the related disciplines; Infotrac, an index of general interest and business periodicals; and Lexis/Nexis Academic Universe that contains legal, business and professional information. iConn can be accessed either from the Daniel T. Banks Health Sciences Library, The Barone Learning Resource Center, or remotely using a personal library card, assigned by library staff.

D. College Library Resources

1. The Library Resources web page includes numerous Internet and Web sites that are freely accessible to all users of the Internet, as well as print resources that can be found in the Daniel T. Banks Library. You can find this Library Resources page by clicking on the Student Services tab on St. Vincent's College home web site. The resources on this page include many reference sites and allied health resources that have been determined by the College Librarian to contain reliable, authoritative, and often scholarly information that can be used in research projects and papers. Such resources include PubMed - the primary database for medicine and health sciences. It covers the literature back to the early 1960's. There are a growing number of full text resources available on PubMed as well. The Daniel T. Banks Library, located in the Medical Center, holds numerous print journals as well.
2. Inter-Library Loan (ILL) service provides magazine/journal articles and occasionally books not available at the library, or through electronic resources. ILL access is through the National Library of Medicine's Docline system, and provides material in the medical, nursing and health sciences fields. Materials needed in general studies areas can be obtained through other resources, including the collections of Sacred Heart University's Ryan-Matura Library. Inter-Library loan forms are available in the Daniel T. Banks Library. Requested materials are generally available in 3-5 business days. There is usually no charge for this service. If a fee is involved, the patron will be notified before the request is filled.

III. Introduction to the research process

a. Writing a Research Paper

Please click on any of the following links to Purdue University's Online Writing Lab (OWL) research guides. This internationally acclaimed writing resource covers every step of the research process, from deciding your paper topic to properly citing a resource under the American Psychological Association (APA)'s guidelines. You will find links to the OWL's APA formatting section throughout St. Vincent College's Library website as well as below.

Accessing iConn Databases from Outside the Library

1. Go to www.iconn.org
2. Enter the Library bar code (the longer number on the back of your library card).

How to Use the iConn Keyword Search

The following information can be found on iConn's Help page or by clicking on the Keyword Search link below.

The initial search screen is a simple Keyword Search that will simultaneously search nearly all databases. You can see those databases, as well as change or clear the database selections made, by clicking on Select iCONN Resources, or by clicking on Advanced Search. This will display the Resource menu.

To unselect a selection on the Resource Menu, click on the box next to the database name. To reselect a selection, click on the same box again. To select all databases in a given category, click on the box next to the category name. To clear all database selections, click on Clear Checkmarks. To return all database selections to their original (default) settings, click on Reset.

Click directly on the database name (if it is highlighted in blue) to search the database directly using its native search interface. Click directly on the  next to the database name to learn more about that database.

▶ Link to Individual Databases takes you to the original iCONN menu that allows you to search each database one-at-a-time using each database's native search interface.

▶ Link to Additional Research Resources takes you to a wealth of additional information (all in the public domain) organized by subject.

▶ Search reQuest - the Statewide Library Catalog provides a direct path to searching only reQuest.

▶ Find Library Home Pages & Catalogs takes you to a directory of online catalogs and library home pages in Connecticut and in the world.

Browse reQuest Catalogs (the tab at the top of the screen) enables you to search reQuest exactly as the search terms appear in their applicable indexes. For example, to search the author Mark Twain in browse mode, you would enter "Twain, Mark" whereas in keyword mode you could enter the same words in any order.
